

Amagasaki City has designated the following evacuation sites in case a disaster occurs.

- A tsunami temporary evacuation site is a place where people can evacuate temporarily when a tsunami, storm surge, or flood occurs, and a tsunami warning or evacuation information is issued. These sites include public facilities as well as privately owned buildings provided through cooperation with their owners.
- A designated emergency shelter is a place where people can stay for a medium to long period if they lose their homes due to a disaster, or until the danger has passed after a disaster occurs.
- A welfare evacuation shelter is a shelter intended for people who need special assistance during disasters. (This is a secondary shelter opened only when necessary during a disaster and is generally not available for use from the beginning.)

Check in advance which evacuation sites are easy for you to reach.

Assumed Inundation Area (Maximum Assumed Scale*)

Rivers in the Mukogawa River System: Mukogawa River, Tennojigawa River

This flood hazard map has been prepared to help residents evacuate quickly and safely if rivers in the Mukogawa River system are expected to overflow or if they overflow.

* The "maximum assumed scale" refers to predictions made on the assumption that rivers will overflow due to the largest possible rainfall that can be expected. In an actual disaster, areas not included in the assumed inundation area may be flooded, and the results may differ from what is anticipated, so caution is required.
